Veterans Day

Intended to recognition the signing of the armistice that ended World War 1, November 11 has become one of the least celebrated of our federal and state holidays. Armistice Day was first proclaimed on November 11, 1919 but it was years before it became a national holiday.

An Act (52 Stat. 351; 5 U. S. Code, Sec. 87a) approved May 13, 1938, made the 11th of November in each year a legal holiday; "a day to be dedicated to the cause of world peace and to be thereafter celebrated and known as 'Armistice Day'." The holiday morphed into Veterans Day in 1954. Naturally, the day of recognition has been jockeyed so three day weekends can be extended to federal and other public employees.

Fewer and fewer military veterans will hold elective office and Cheyenne is indeed fortunate to have a Vietnam veteran recently elected to be the next mayor of the city. Rick Kaysen served as a dog handler in Vietnam.

Veterans Day is the holiday when 19 year-old bank tellers get the day off with pay and many real military veterans work on that day for cowhand wages. Something's not right about that. To veterans all over the nation, thank you for your service.

Early voting vs. election day voting

The consistency is amazing

Rick Kaysen benefitted from Jayne Mockler's late inactivity and news of her illness and surgery. It also appears that the firefighter's endorsement of Jeff Goins helped Jeff and hurt the mayor, Jack Spiker. And, the late attack ads against Jim Brown backfired. He got a higher percentage of the votes on election day than he had in the early voting. Finally, it looks like Ward 3 voters thought Donna Roofe was behind the attack ads - notice how her percentage of votes cast dropped off significantly on election day from the early voting. In so many races, the percentage of votes cast early nearly mirrored the percentage of votes cast on election day.

Note: Write-in votes are not included in calculations.
